Future plans for the group include a concert for the College sometime in the spring.

Graduation Week End Features Two Dances

For the first time in four years, the College will sponsor June finals on a pre-war basis, the Administrative Council decided Friday following a discussion of 34 student suggestions. The June week end will include two formal dances, the June Ball on Friday, June 7, and the Alumni dance, on Saturday, June 8.

Because of the difficulties of procuring materials and labor and the cost of such an undertaking, the dances will not be held in the Sunken Gardens as in previous years, but will be held in Blow Gymnasium which will be decorated with the elaborate Colonial Mansion sets. Both gyms will be used and the colonial motif will include the sets designed by Leslie Cheek, Jr., first head of the department of fine arts. These sets are said to be perhaps the most elaborate dance sets in the country. They were originally used for the Homecoming dances.

The Administrative Council decided that a big name dance orchestra should be contracted for the week end as soon as possible, and Charles J. Duke, bursar, will handle the details of the contract. President John E. Pomfret has issued a statement that the College will render every assistance to the Dance Committee in holding these dances.

Elections for men's representative to Student Assembly for the freshman, junior, and senior classes, as well as the vice-president of the senior class, will be held Friday, February 22, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall from 1:00 to 6:00 p. m.

The Council, composed of President Pomfret; Mr. Duke; John E. Hocutt, dean of men; Charles J. McCurdy, executive secretary of the Alumni Association; Fritz Zepht, president of the student body; and Nancy Grube, president of the senior class, reached the

Flat Hat Increases Staff Membership

Eight additional members were named to The FLAT HAT staff this week after a two-week try-out period.

These persons are Andy Williams and Louis Bailey, sports staff; Fletcher Cox, Herbert Bateman, Alice Baxley, Elise Jones, Eva Kafka, and Marie Hall, editorial staff.

George Newman has been named photographer for the paper.

"George" Asks Student Body To His Party

"George" has requested the presence of all men and women on the campus to attend his birthday party in the small dining hall and Wigwam, Friday night, February 22, from 9:00 to 11:00 p. m. He stated that all students are to come without dates, as the purpose is to have everyone mixing. Eleven o'clock permission has been granted to all women attending the party.

A nickel cover charge will be collected at the door and this will entitle each person to one free drink. According to George, an elaborate program has been planned, and he hopes to see all the student body there to enjoy it.

Mrs. Claire Holt Talks To Seminar

Mrs. Claire Holt, anthropologist, of the South Asia Institute will speak at the next meeting of the Marshall-Wythe Seminar on Friday, February 22. Mrs. Holt's speech, which will continue the theme of "Problems of World Politics", will deal specifically with "South Asia and the Problem of Colonialism".

The students, who will participate in a discussion following Mrs. Holt's speech are Ann Bruce, Myrtle Colona, Jan Freer, Keith Ann Gamble, Susan McGeachin, Carol Parker, Sybil Schwartz, and Bobbie Stealy.

Students Go To Polls Friday; Elect Class Representatives

Special elections to fill the positions of freshman, junior, and senior men representatives to the Student Assembly and vice president of the senior class will be held on Friday, February 22, from 1:00 to 6:00 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Nominations for the positions were made by petition and by the Senior Nominating Committee. Three students were nominated for vice president of the senior class: Dick Baker, Fran Butler, and Betty Marie Ellett.

Don Anderson, Ennis Rees, and James Sawyer were named as candidates for the position of senior man representative to the Assembly. F. E. Clark, Aubrey Mason, and Tom Mikula will run for the office of junior representative.

Four candidates, Frank Deierhoi, Kenneth Scott, Basil Woolley, and Robert Zoll, were put up from the freshman class to run for the Student Assembly.

Both men and women students will vote for the representatives from their respective classes; every class except the sophomore class will be represented in the voting Friday. The Men's and Women's Honor Council, acting as the Committee on the Conduct of Elections, will preside at the polls. The rules of this committee require that there be no electioneering near the polls.

To the club or dormitory producing the best number on the program of the "Junior Follies" will go a loving cup, according to the discussion of the junior class at their meeting on Thursday, February 14.

At this meeting, the class decided on a St. Patrick's Day theme for the dance they will sponsor on March 16, featuring the crowning of St. Patrick in the person of an Irish boy on campus. The method of selection has not been decided.

There will be a meeting of the International Relations Club tomorrow night in Brown Hall at 7:30. All members are invited to attend, including returned veterans who are former members of the club.

With the tentative date of April 17, the class has planned the "Follies" on a competitive basis, with any and all organizations on campus, except sororities, participating. A board of faculty members will judge the competition.

All organizations who wish to participate in the show must give "their names and at least one vague idea apiece" to him by March 1, Bert Rance, president of the class, stated. A coordinating committee headed by Henry

Davis, was set up at the class meeting to fix the order of the skits and to arrange the timing. Dot Ferenbaugh and Margie Oak were put in charge of publicity.

Committees for the dance on March 16 include decorations: Dotty Ann Bacon, Nancy Easley, Dot Ferenbaugh, Betty Gall, Pat Jones, Scotty Murray, Margie Oak, Phyl Shade, and Jerry Willyard; publicity: Bob Jacobs, Jane Segnitz, and Marge Williams; entertainment: Jeanne McCreight and Aubrey Mason. All of the committees held a joint meeting last night in Washington 200.

Also at the class meeting, members were put in charge of collecting dues in the various dorms: Jefferson, Jane Segnitz; Barrett, Sally Phillips and Jerry Willyard; Brown: Alfred Hurt; Chandler, Jackie Armor and Jeanne Lamb; Old Dominion, Bert Rance; Sorority Court, Dulcie Daniels and Mimi White; Taliaferro, Dennis Wine.

Fraternities Make April Rush Plans

A date for formal fraternity rushing was set, rushing rules were adopted and approved unanimously, and the new Constitution was ratified by members of the Interfraternity Association at a meeting on Monday night, February 18.

All men interested in future fraternity affiliation will be invited to a reception sponsored by the Interfraternity Association on Sunday afternoon, April 7. Rush week begins April 8 at noon. Silence day begins Friday, April 12, at midnight, and ends Sunday, April 14, at noon.

Rushing rules will be published later, according to Francis E. Clark, president of the Association. Committeemen for rush rules are Red Wood, Kappa Alpha; Tom Athey, Phi Kappa Tau; Bob Leonard, Sigma Pi; and Iver Brook, Pi Lambda Phi.

Notice!

Permission to keep automobiles at College must be secured from President Pomfret, John E. Hocutt, dean of men, has announced. Men students who have automobiles at the college must report this fact immediately to the dean of men by letter, including information as to make, model, and license number of the car, type and amount of insurance coverage, and the necessity of having the car at college.

New Ruling Sets Outline For Veterans' Credits

Returning veterans are affected by a recent ruling of the Committee on Degrees regarding partial credits, a measure voted on January 30 and passed by the faculty on February 12.

Early in the war the College, like others, was faced with the problem of students leaving in the middle of the term because of military necessity, stated Dr. James W. Miller, chairman of the Committee on Degrees. To remedy the situation regarding unfinished work, the faculty voted that if a student left before completing the term, he would receive partial credit, provided that he had completed at least half of the term's work and the work was passing when he left.

The new ruling, released from Dr. Miller's office, reads:

"If a student withdrew or withdraws from the College before the end of a semester in order to enter military service and in accordance with the faculty vote of March 9, 1943, received or receives partial credit for a distribution course in which he was enrolled at the time of his withdrawal: then, provided the partial credit in the course amounts to one-half or more of the semester's work in the course and provided the student completed or completes with full credit the other semester's work of the course, the completion of the distribution requirement in question is waived.

"If, however, the distribution course in question is in the department in which the student concentrates, or is a mathematics

Red Cross Chapter Elects Alice Peebles Chairman

At the Women Students' Government meeting held Monday, February 11, the officers of the College chapter of the American Red Cross were elected by secret ballot. The new officers are Alice Peebles, chairman; Jerry Willyard, vice-chairman; and Jean Morgan, secretary.

Alice Peebles has served this year as chairman of production. Jerry Willyard previously held the position of co-chairman of the camp and hospital committee, while Jean Morgan started last November as co-chairman of publicity.

The newly-elected officers were officially installed at a meeting Monday, February 18.

College Owes . . .

... Impartial Support

Tomorrow the College Chapel Choir is traveling to Richmond to present the first public concert that any group has given off campus since 1940. Such an activity should receive the wholehearted support of the College, financially as well as otherwise.

With few exceptions, apparently, the choir members are the only ones who are giving their entire support, for the members of this organization, representing the College of William and Mary, are paying for their food and half the traveling expenses that the trip involves. The College cannot afford to finance the trip entirely, although they are paying half the bus fare.

It is common knowledge that the athletic teams, boys and girls, are financed by the College; the expenses of the Debate Team are paid each year. Granting that this money comes from different sources set up specifically to meet these expenses, there should be some way to finance this trip without requiring the members to pay most of the expenses. No admission is being charged for the concert, but before admission can be charged, the Choir must establish its reputation. It is during this period of being established that the Choir needs the backing of the College. At the time when it is most needed, this support is only partly forthcoming.

The Choir is one group that has served the College faithfully throughout the years. They are called upon to sing at the weekly Chapel services, all convocations, special programs, and graduation exercises. It takes just as much hard work, time, skill, coordination, and patience to prepare for these programs as any other collegiate activity requires. This public appearance will, undoubtedly, bring publicity to the school as well as have some influence on prospective students. The College should be proud of the organization and want to support it to the utmost. Certainly the students do. They want the trip to be a success and prefer to go on this basis than to have to give up the project entirely.

William and Mary Go-Round

By FRED FRECHETTE

STARTING FROM SCRATCH . . . AN OPPORTUNITY

Within a few weeks, the campus will witness a revival of that almost extinct phenomenon, fraternity rushing. The surviving members of the fraternities are busily preparing for the big event . . . electing officers and such, even though in most cases every brother is an officer. But things are happening; William and Mary is about to have a rebirth of fraternities.

I have a few thoughts I'd like to pass on to all the fraternity men and future members. In the hustle and bustle of making preparations to rush and be rushed, we must not lose sight of the fact that we are starting from scratch. Oh yes, the fraternity men will say that they are very much aware of that fact as they look at their depleted brotherhood . . . but I have another slant on that issue:

The future of the fraternity system at William and Mary rests on our shoulders. It is not a burden to be carelessly tossed over the shoulder and allowed to ride. We must constantly check ourselves to see that we are not kicking it around . . . assure ourselves that the whole thing won't tumble to the ground.

GOOD IN FRATERNITY ACTIVITY

There is a lot of good to be had in fraternity activity and fraternity membership . . . but in the same token, there can be a lot of evil, as there was before the war. Fraternity men are students of the college! A fraternity's place on campus should be one of leadership as well as being a vehicle for social enjoyment.

Now that we have the opportunity to start from scratch, we should avail ourselves of the bonds of the Fraternity Association to create a healthy, well-knit, intelligent core of student leadership. The gentlemen of the fraternities have a duty to the school as well as to themselves.

We are students and future alumni . . . we want this to be a place of which to be proud. We can help the school by helping ourselves and our fellow students. It means fighting for the best interests of all the students . . . not only of the fraternities. By fighting for the best interest of the school, we automatically help the fraternities. Not only must we strike at injustices; we must help bring back the feeling of college unity which has been so sadly lacking in the past few years.

Too many of the students feel that complaining and protesting will bring back the things we want. That is a misconception. It is up to the men of the fraternities to show the right way to them. Changes within the student body are needed . . . improvements for the students will come most easily from within, not without, the students.

LETTERMEN . . . IN NAME ONLY

There is an old custom among high school and college coaching staffs whereby those men who play a certain portion of the varsity schedule each year are presented with varsity letters for their service to the school. I always understood that William and Mary was under the same system.

The other day, I read in one of the Richmond newspapers about all of "the 1945 lettermen" who were going to be on hand next fall. All I can say to that is "What lettermen?" I have yet to see one of those 1945 football letters worn by any of the alleged lettermen.

Come to think of it, I can't remember seeing any varsity letters which have been issued in the past year and a half. I think that the varsity football, track, and basketball squads of the past three semesters have done their part towards helping to add to our athletic prestige. They deserve letters . . . why haven't they received them?

Letters To The Editor

OPEN LETTER TO STUDENTS:

On January 16, 1946, a mass meeting was held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The purpose of the meeting was to obtain a list of constructive suggestions for the betterment of the College, to present to the Board of Directors of the Alumni. To start off, Nancy Grube and I had three issues to present to this Board. After the mass meeting was over we went through the list of suggestions from the floor and picked out those which we thought were the most important to add to the three we already had. The Board was so interested, however, in the rest of the list that each member of the Board requested and was presented with a copy of the entire list. Further copies were given to President Pomfret and Dean Lambert. Saturday morning, February 16, the Administrative Council of the College met to consider the suggestions made.

You have all read in last week's FLAT HAT the outcome of the fraternity question. In this issue the decision reached as to the feasibility of the June Ball is given by President Pomfret.

The third main point concerning homecomings for next year resulted in the decision that there would be a homecoming celebration next year at one of the home football games.

The following suggestions were made from the floor and I will try to answer them as well as I can. The answers will be brief because of the length of the list. If any further information is desired by those who raised some of the points, Nancy and I will be glad to furnish it if possible, at any time you happen to see one of us.

1. The request that the degree requirements be changed because some of the required courses are not liked; cannot be made as the College has to meet certain scholastic requirements of which these courses are a necessary part for a Liberal Arts College.

2. The riding stables and canoeing on the lake will be brought back if someone can be found who will take both amusements on a concession basis.

3. The new recreation room (small dining hall) problem is being worked on now by Mr. Duke and Mr. Chandler and will be opened as soon as the necessary labor is available.

4. There will be more good home football games next year, so far V.M.I. and V.P.I. have been scheduled as home games.

Mr. Gooch of the athletic department said that it will be possible to have organized student cheering sections at away games, as well as student tickets for away games. However, student tickets have to be purchased by a certain time previous to each game, and after this time limit the tickets are returned to the gates and sold as regular admission.

5. Reasons will be given as far as possible why certain things can't be done. For example, President Pomfret's statement on the June Ball.

6. Repairs will be made in dormitories as soon as possible, however, painting by individuals is not allowed. For example one girl may like a certain color, but the next year the new tenant may not like said color and request the College to repaint the room.

7. Mail cannot be delivered to the dorms because of postal regulations, unless some responsible persons acts as custodian of the mail and delivers it to dorms. A loss of one letter would bring postal authorities to investigate.

8. Improved lighting in the dorms as soon as possible.

9. Clean up the campus: a worthwhile and readily agreed to suggestion. However, students, take notice of the "new" walks recently created across campus.

10. Our state appropriations per capita are as high as any school in the state.

11. The request that new equipment is needed in the physics department should be routed through the head of the department if needed. Let it be pointed out though that our physics course and math course have been approved by M.I.T. to such an extent that we have a course in conjunction with M.I.T. We are one of the 14 colleges selected for such a program.

12. The cafeteria style of dining hall was installed jointly as a war measure and upon the urgent requests of the students prior to installation. If table service is desired there are 2 special dining halls, one in Jefferson and one in Taliaferro.

13. The suggestions on the cafeteria can be lumped under three headings: a. the Board of Alumni has referred the matter to a student-alumni committee. b. The

World Government Faces Crisis

Failure Or Realization For U.N.O.?

BOB HECKEL

Friday, March 20, 19—

Supremacy of UNO Realized

"Today the United States of America, along with fifty-one other nations relinquished its sovereignty and declared itself subordinate to the omnipotence of the United Nations Organization."

Such were the words emanated by the Secretary of State to an open session of press reporters at his Washington office. He discussed the importance of this historical measure and proclaimed that at last the missing link had been placed in its proper position with respect to the affairs of nations. The UNO, he said, now has the "Teeth" to enforce its laws and thus insure justice to all countries whether large or small. National differences will be settled more quickly and easily than in the past because the factor of power politics has been practically abolished.

The Secretary of State described this dynamic international political move as being comparable to the discovery of the release of atomic energy. Just as atomic power offers unlimited boundaries for technological improvement so does the now supreme UNO offer unlimited horizons in the form of political reciprocity. The common fear which developed throughout the world after the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima was caused by the fact that a powerful weapon had been produced without the formation of a correspondingly powerful organization to control that weapon. This fear need exist no longer because a special committee of the UNO has absolute control of all such diabolical arms.

The Secretary placed special emphasis on the part that the UNO will play in furthering an ever expanding economic program which will enhance those nations which in the past were in the "have not" category. One of the first steps to be taken by the UNO will be to make a statistical survey of the effects of economic barriers which tend to stymie world trade. It must be made clear that this vast economic program will entail a large amount of sacrifice on the part of those nations which are geographically fortunate. They will have to take the lead by making long term loans and by advising the more backward countries on how to create modern systems of production.

The Secretary summarized by saying that for the first time in the history of humanity men of all nations had found a common goal. This goal consists of liberty and justice for all men of all nations and is to be achieved through the machinery of the all powerful UNO and by the grace of God.

" . . . Adam, now open thine eyes, and first behold The effects which thy original crime hath wrought In some to spring from thee, who never touched The excepted tree, nor with the snake conspired, Nor sinned thy sin, yet from that sin derive Corruption to bring forth more violent deeds."

—Paradise Lost

UNO Crumbles

"It is with deep regret and a feeling of utter despondence that I announce the formal secession of the United States from the United Nations Organizations."

Thus spoke the Secretary of State over a nationwide television hookup last night.

He declared that due to the recalcitrant attitude of the member nations international problems were actually agitated and magnified rather than settled by genuine democratic procedure. The tendency for the individual nations to ignore all international relationships other than those which would aggrandize their own respective positions has made it an impossibility for the UNO to solve any significant problems.

The failure of the world organization is imminent and as a result the United States must promote a huge armament program and do all in its power to muster stock piles of strategic materials.

The Secretary spoke gravely of the future. He warned that the impending situation calls for a cautious but firm and unwavering foreign policy.

W-M Theatre Prepares Play

Rehearsals for Ladies in Retirement, to be presented by the William and Mary Theatre on March 13 and 14, are under way. The play, a psychological mystery drama, by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham, was first presented in New York in the spring of 1940, where, according to reviewers, it enjoyed great popularity. In the New York production Flora Robson played Ellen Creed, housekeeper-companion to amiable Leonora Fiske, portrayed by Isobel Elsom. The two insane sisters were played by Estelle Winwood and Jessamine Newcombe, and the nephew, Albert Feather, by Patrick O'Moore.

Columbia released the movie version of Ladies in Retirement in the fall of 1941. Ida Lupino and Louis Hayward co-starred as Ellen and Albert. Isobel Elsom was the only player who had been a member of the New York cast. Elsa Lanchester and Edith Barrett took the cinema roles of the sisters, and Evelyn Keyes played Lucy, the maid.

Dr. Harrison Asks . . . Questions About Shakespeare

The Inquiring Reporter turned his job over to Dr. Charles T. Harrison this week. Your reporter told him he could ask anything he wanted, about anything. Most characteristic of an English professor was his chosen question: "Who is your favorite Shakespearean character and why?"

Pat Whitecomb: "Falstaff. He was a jolly character and easy to get along with."

Mr. Kuipp: "I don't have any special favorite. Of his women I admire Juliet the most for her youth."

Michaela Gronata: "Marc Antony, because he had a change of character."

Joan Le Fevre: "Cleopatra; she's a perfect example of the glamorous, fascinating woman. She's mature and lovely."

Barbara La Mont: "It's too difficult a choice to make. I don't like Juliet at all; she's a namby-pamby. In fact I don't like his women."

Mary Prince: "Lady Macbeth, I saw the play and liked the possibilities for acting."

Dick Bethards: "Shylock, because I think his character has the most interesting chances for portrayal. I think too, you might add, that he loved his daughter more than his money."

Jack Hoey: "Othello, because he's just like any other man, has love troubles."

Ginny Graham: "The favorite character is the one I'd like to play. The bristles part in Twelfth Night, Viola. But for romance I'd like to play Juliet. I could do it, too, I think."

Williamsburg Inn Reopens To Public

Williamsburg Inn, which has been closed for several weeks during a period of renovation and redecoration, will be opened again for civilian use tomorrow. The hotel, opened originally in 1937, voluntarily reserved its facilities for commissioned officers and their families, in June, 1942. This was done in an effort to ease the housing shortage on the Virginia Peninsula where a great amount of war activity was concentrated. During the three and a half years that the Inn has been in war service, nearly 100,000 persons have stayed there.

John D. Green, general manager of the Colonial Williamsburg hotel properties, has announced the appointment of G. Bland Hoke, recently returned from four years of Navy duty, as resident manager of Williamsburg Inn. Miss Mary Frederick, manager of Travis House since last September, will assume her new duties as food director when the Inn reopens.

Complete dining facilities have been restored at the hotel. The Sunday night buffet suppers will again be featured.

Work has already begun on a new golf course which is being laid off in close proximity to the landscaped grounds of the Inn.

India Problems Form Subject Of Discussion

The nationalistic problems of India will be discussed at the Young People's Training Union of the Baptist church on February 24 at 6:30 p. m.

Bob Jacobs is reporting on the book, "Toward Freedom" an autobiography of Nehru. Mrs. Caldwell, the new student secretary, will present additional information and assist in the discussion of the Indian problem.

Philadelphian Glo Rankin Favors Riding and Hockey History Major Wants Pilot License, Job In Commercial Art In Richmond

"I'm a Philadelphian by birth but not by choice because I'm not too fond of cities," Glo Rankin said as she talked over the sound of running water and through soap suds as she washed her hair. She wrapped a towel around her head, came over and sat on the bed, ready to give The FLAT HAT its interview of her.

Glo went to Upper Darby High School in Upper Darby, Penna., "the best high school in the Union", "I used to be conscientious about school work and on the side I took part in plays and was active in intramural sports there. We had a riding club, rifle club, and language club. As a matter of fact, I wish they'd have a rifle club here. We had a good one at home, to which I didn't belong, of course. Just like here there were a lot of activities and just like everyone else, I got in too many."

Glo loves to play hockey and when she was in high school she always wanted to be on the Varsity team but "I never made it". "Horseback riding is one of my favorite sports, too. Usually I ride in a group, but last Christmas I went riding by myself and the horse kept jumping over every stone. Finally he ended by throwing me and jumping over me. I've quit riding by myself."

"I'm crazy about flying. Last October I started learning and now I have 5 hours solo flying to my credit". Glo says that if some good weather doesn't come soon she's afraid she'll never get all of her time.

"Supposedly I'm in my major but I believe that I have a class in every department on campus. Though I'm a history major there are so many interesting courses here that I don't want to miss any of them."

Besides being on the Varsity hockey team, Glo has been a member of Student Assembly, the Spanish Club, the Cabinet of the YWCA, vice president of the German Club, publicity manager of Women's Athletic Association, secretary-treasurer of the senior class and the International Relations Club, secretary of Chi Omega fraternity, and a member of the War Council and the Monogram club.

When Glo graduates there are two things she wants to do, get her pilot's license and get a job in commercial art. "Now I'm planning on trying for a position in Richmond, because that's where I expect to live."

Anniversary Concert Features Kirkpatrick

Eighteenth century concerts, a pre-war educational feature of the Palace of the Royal Governor's in Williamsburg, are to be resumed this year on the 240th anniversary of the passing of the act authorizing the building of the Palace, by the colonial House of Burgesses.

As on previous occasions the anniversary concerts, presented in the candle-light ballroom of the Palace, will feature Ralph Kirkpatrick, outstanding American harpsichordist. This year he will be presented with Alexander Schneider, violinist; Daniel Saidenberg, violoncello; and Jennie Tourel, mezzo-soprano.

Two series of concerts, six concerts in all, are planned. The dates of the first series are May 13-15; the second, May 16-18. Programs will be announced at a later date. Reservations for each concert will be limited to 150 persons.

Booklet Prepares Women For W-M

"College of William and Mary", a booklet for the freshman women entering next September, is now being written by members of Mortar Board. This booklet will contain suggestions to the new women on such matters as clothes, room decorations, and social activities. Pam Pauly, chairman of Mortar Board, has requested that anyone wishing to make additions to the pamphlet give them to her. She specifically asked that the women in this year's freshman class inform her of the questions they wanted answered before they came to William and Mary.

Mortar Board is now planning a tea for the wives of the veterans on campus. No date has been set for this tea, as yet. The Smarty Party, given for the ten girls in each class having the highest scholastic averages, is to be held on March 21.

A letter has been written to the Chamber of Commerce of Richmond, requesting a list of all of the concerts and lectures to be presented in Richmond in the near future. A trip to an outstanding concert or lecture may be sponsored by Mortar Board.

College Announces Essay Competition

Any students interested in submitting manuscripts for the Tiberius Gracchus Jones Literary Prize should turn them in to the committee headed by Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, dean of women, or to W. Melville Jones, associate professor of English. The prize, which is described on page 74 of the current catalogue, is awarded each year for the best English essay submitted by any student in any department of the College. The word "essay" includes the poem, the short story, the play, the oration, and the literary essay. Archer G. Jones created the prize as a memorial to his father, Tiberius Gracchus Jones, a member of the class of 1844-45. All entries must be submitted by May 4, 1946 in order to be eligible for the contest.

Red Cross Drive Begins March 1; Student Contribution Requested

Starting March 1, the students of William and Mary will be asked to contribute to the 1946 drive of the American Red Cross. Members of the Red Cross unit on this campus will collect all contributions.

The James City County Red Cross Chapter has for the past three years devoted most of its resources to Home Service and to Camp and Hospital. The Home Service assists service men, veterans, and their families by providing information, advice, communication, and on occasion financial aid. Home Service enlists and coordinates the medical, legal, and business resources of the community. During the past year the local office has handled more than 400 cases.

Camp and Hospital Service provides for the needs of men in nearby military camps. Last year it furnished 4000 books, several thousand magazines, games, and other materials. With the aid of the Production Committee, it provided men in hospitals with slippers, washcloths, radios, reading lamps, and mending service. It furnished entertainment at the hospitals and in Williamsburg. It has acted as agent for the collection and distribution of gift boxes from members of the community.

In the immediate future, the needs for Camp and Hospital Service will be reduced, but the requirements for Home Service are likely to be increased.

Membership cards are $1.00, but the Red Cross representatives in the dormitories urge each student to contribute generously to the drive.

Co-eds Need Glossary To "Compri" Jargon of Returned Vets

FLETCHER COX

Frequently, while beating about the campus, I have noted looks of complete bewilderment upon the faces of the fair sex, such looks usually provoked by some statement made by a returned veteran.

Accordingly, I have reached the conclusion that what this campus needs is neither a good five-cent cigar, nor a good three-cent air line, but a comprehensive working glossary of printable G.I. terms and their meanings.

There will probably be ambiguities and omissions in the following list. Please keep in mind the fact that Noah Webster didn't have a Saturday-noon dead-line nor an editor with a horse-whip when he compiled his dictionary.

Until the returnees have become accustomed to circulating within circles where refined conversation predominates, it is suggested that the student body employ this glossary whenever necessary.

Bot - E - Talk

The weather's lovely, parties are beginning at the shelter, everyone's friendly, dozens of intrigues are in full swing, some people even went so far as to attempt a sunbath last Sunday. Bot's happy too because life is so complicated for so many and that makes for news.

Natch, Doc, natch: Doc Savage riding home on the ferry last week, Doc's absence from constitutional law for several days, Doc's sudden appearance back on campus for the week end, Doc's story: a baggage door on the ferry was left open and he fell out, the coast guard picked him up after three hours on a buoy.

TNT: Cyrus Carruthers mixing a mild explosive for John Harvie, John liking the stuff and carrying it in his pocket, a person bumps into Harvie down at the post office and said explosive blows up. Add note—woman in P. O. nearly had a heart attack.

Tit for tat: Walter Weaver sitting down at Rexall's with Jane Fessler, Doc Ware walks in with Polly Krotts, Bill Anderson and Betty Lawson there too taking it all in.

The mice will play: Doc Hol-loway with Charlotte Fletcher.

Question: How Mrs. Larimore is doing with all the men.

Eligibles: Fletcher Cox—about six foot, blonde; Buddy Hubbard—about six foot, football player, heavy set, enigmatic; Bud Jones—nearly six foot, likes parties, brownette; Lou Bailey—six two, ex-marine, assisted in Brown Hall party Friday night; Bud Baker—five nine, slow grin, doesn't chase after women a-tall. More will appear later.

The co-eds agree: "Boy, aren't some of the professors attractive? they mean Mr. Kernodle, Dr. Miller, Dr. Harrison, Mr. Jones, Dr. Guy, Dr. Umbeck, Dean Hocutt, Dr. Haserot, Dr. Caldwell, Dr. McCully, and Dr. Adair.

Ad infinitum: Jeanne Owens living in "candy corner" of Jefferson—it rained nine pounds of chocolates Valentine's Day, June Lochenour dividing her time between Roy Sutton and Punk Hud-gins, Burnsie Weston's George home after a long time over there, Carol Passow as the pal of the S.P.'s, June White singing the "Shanghai Blues", Chris Rentsch with flowers from Bryant, Ruth Schank with Bob Ascherl's KT pin, Mary Elford's Bill here for the week end, Carolyn Beach's John here too.

Noted and not forgotten: Jerrie Healy with Howie Hyle, Warren Smith keeping the irons hot, receiving 18 valentines, Harvey Chappell and an Army friend up visiting Pat Young, H. Reid eagerly awaiting Gin Ezell's arrival from Elon, Al Clark walking the paths with Jane Seaton, Ann Moore with Jim Field instead of John Hasty, Jack Hickman swearing his black eye wasn't from Sugie, Mary Gray dating the aforesaid "buoy boy".

Long live the dining hall social circles!

General Co-op Plans Changes

Recommendations made by a student committee for changes in the constitution of the Student Government were presented and discussed at a meeting of the General Co-operative Committee held on February 14. A complete revision of the constitution was read by Nancy Grube.

The Committee recommended the adoption of the report with the exception of the plan to put the point system into effect. The point system, as it now stands, would necessitate resignations by class officers who are elected to student government positions several months before their terms as class officers expire. This, the Committee felt, would create unnecessary confusion. It was suggested that Pat Jones, chairman of the Point System committee of the Interclub Council, be asked to discuss the point system at the next meeting.

President John E. Pomfret announced that an association of Veterans' wives had been organized and suggested that other campus organizations recognize and entertain the new group.

It was decided that a chart showing the organization and powers of the various committees of the College be published annually in The FLAT HAT.

Old Colonial Flag Flies Above Historical Capitol

Restoration Lauds Banner Of 1776

In celebration of Washington's Birthday on February 22, the Grand Union Flag, the first flag of our nation, will be flown over the historic Williamsburg Capitol for the first time since the Declaration of Independence. The flag is also known as the Cambridge Flag because it is a replica of the one which was first used when Washington took command of the American troops in Cambridge, Mass., on July 2, 1775, after it was adopted by the General Congress in Philadelphia.

The flag represents both England and America because it was adopted when the colonies still bore allegiance to England. In the upper left-hand corner where the stars appear on the present flag, there is a miniature British flag of the period. The 13 red and white stripes which make up the remainder are the same as on the national flag today. This early flag was used until the adoption of the Stars and Stripes by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, although after the colonies declared their independence they refused to use it because of its British flavor.

This flag was flown over the Capitol in Williamsburg on May 15, 1776, to celebrate the passing of the resolution by which Virginia instructed her delegates in the Philadelphia Congress "to propose to that respectable Body to declare the United Colonies free and independent States, absolved from all Allegiance to, or Dependence upon, the Crown, or Parliament of Great Britain . . ." Even before this resolution was followed, the Virginia Colony severed her own connection with the mother country and elected Patrick Henry to be her governor.

Reproduced especially for this celebration of Washington's birthday, the Grand Union Flag will replace the obsolete British flag which regularly flies over the Capitol for a day.

Brown Hall Residents Entertain Evicted Girls

The men of Brown Hall, assisted by their house-mother Mrs. Clifton B. English, entertained on Friday night, February 15, with a party for the former residents of Brown Hall. The party was given by the men to show their appreciation to the girls who were forced to move from Brown into various other dorms to make room for them.

The hosts and guests each wore a name card cut in the shape of a Valentine heart on which appeared the room numbers of current and former residents. The living room was decorated with Spring flowers and the sun porch in Valentine colors with red roses and tapers.

Honor guests were President and Mrs. John E. Pomfret, Dean and Mrs. John E. Hocutt, and Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts.

There was dancing in the living room to music from a phonograph. Several card tables were set in the game room with bridge and other games in progress. Refreshments were served consisting of sandwiches, potato chips, cake, candies, nuts, and cokes.

Chairman for the dance was Eddie King with refreshments being provided by a committee headed by Steve Hansuld and Warren Smith.

Psychoanalysis Students Probe Subconscious Mind

Class Studies Secrets In Paintings, Automatic Writing and Crystal Balls

When you look into a crystal ball do you really see the future? According to Dr. Edgar M. Foltin's Therapeutic Interview and Psychoanalysis class you project your own thoughts into the crystal ball and imagine that you see things there. The students say that your subconscious mind is expressed in the crystal ball, and so, they have been peering into it and then trying to find the secret meaning.

Besides crystal gazing the class is doing automatic writing. A person holds a sheet of paper and pencil in his hand and then tries to forget all about them. The object is that people sometimes automatically write what's in their subconscious mind.

The class is also learning to psychoanalyze people. They're starting by psychoanalyzing each other, but when a technique is perfected the class plans to go to Eastern State Hospital and analyze the patients. According to the students one of the most interesting things they have been doing is painting. Every student paints a picture about anything he wants to. After the student has finished his picture Dr. Foltin studies it and tells him the psychological traits he could discover. One of Dr. Foltin's classes last semester studied the paintings of the Eastern State patients. In some cases they were able to diagnose the disease from which the patients were suffering without having seen the patients. In other cases the students could find characteristics of certain mental diseases expressed in the pictures or tell whether the patient had a high or low mentality.

The course gives three credits and the class has two lectures a week one two hour lab.

Alan Stewart Presents Violin-Sonata Concert

Third of the series of faculty concerts will be the violin sonata concert by Alan C. Stewart, assistant professor of fine arts, presented Thursday, February 28, at 8:00 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall. Andrew C. Haigh, associate professor of fine arts, will accompany Mr. Stewart.

should only be compulsory that give us a freedom which we receive after submitting ourselves to them. If a physics major has acquired a technique in using mathematical formulas, he will find a greater freedom in solving problems by the application of his mathematical knowledge. Next, we should consider whether we will receive benefit by subjecting ourselves to courses completely foreign to those we are studying. Suppose a student majoring in language were required to study mathematics. Will not the habit of paying close attention to algebraic symbols be equally useful to him in writing grammatically and precisely in a foreign tongue? Besides this, we should make some judgment of the value of knowledge as a whole and come aware of the fact that some knowledge is worthy of an absorbing love, but that some is to be despised. A philosophy major, for instance must spend a year studying psychology; and he reads in Psychology and Life this platitude: "If you have been consistently at the top of your classes over a period of time, you can be certain that you are more intelligent than the rest of your classmates". Certainly, anyone who has read Plato is nauseated when he is compelled to spend his time with such trifles. There is no freedom in such compulsion.

I cannot discover any serious effort on the part of Dr. MacCracken to say anything sensible about this question; he, like most present day educationalists, is content to fiddle-diddle the tune of his own likes and dislikes and add to the general confusion, unaware of his own bewilderment.

Sincerely yours,
Richard A. MacCracken.

To The Editor:

I'd like to know just why students on this campus fail to realize the valuable support of a band. Mr. Allen Stewart, director of this organization is doing everything in his power to get a decent band on its feet and yet less than 25% of the students at William and Mary who do play musical instruments of any sort have presented themselves at any of the well-advertised rehearsals.

Everyone knows the fighting spirit a band brings forth at any football or basketball game. The school is willing to furnish both instrument and uniforms. Rehearsals are once a week-arranged so as not to interrupt with any study schedules.

A good band or concert orchestra is an asset to any college. It helps bring students closer together in many ways, including pep rallies, cheering, etc. Every student who has ever listened to or watched his or her high school band perform knows the thrill and pride of being able to say "that's our band."

Mr. Stewart, whose office is located in the Music Bldg., encourages any student who is interested in playing any instrument to come and see him at once. So come on out and let's get started on building a good band—one that everyone will be proud to present at any school activity and get a thrill out of hearing.

A. F. N.

To the Editor:

Miss Harriet Crowell's letter printed last week has relieved the monotony of previous letters printed in this column. She believes there is some importance in doubting whether compulsory degree requirements are really necessary and whether or not some are a bit of a fraud forced upon unsuspecting yet intelligent students by their self-judicious mental superiors. I agree with her in recognizing the importance of this question and with her doubts or suspicions of the true worth of these requirements, but I wholly disagree with the views of the writer to whom she has turned for comfort and consolation; namely Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College. What he said is wholly irrelevant to the question of compulsory requirements, which he hasn't taken the trouble to think about or define.

The essence of what we must consider is whether these courses are compulsory. If we think about the matter, those courses

Farmville, Sweetbriar Win

Indians Face Maryland Tonight,
Meet Cadet Five On Saturday

Vineyard Gets 20 Points
In Losing Court Battles

Inexperience and poor lighting played a large part in a 34-15 defeat for the Squaws at the hands of Farmville Teachers' College, while Lady Luck sat on the opposite side in the tigh 26-23 setback delivered by Sweet Briar. The two contests were played on the victors' courts last Friday and Saturday respectively.

The game with the Farmville lasses was tight but unexciting until the Teachers let loose in the final half, adding more and more to their 14-10 lead at the end of the second period. From there on, the Squaws were helpless. The black-stockinged squad slipped through the zone defense and tallied almost at will. Hill led the unhampered path with 14 points.

On the offensive side of the Squaws ledger, only Captain Ann Vineyard played her usual fine game. Of the 15 points annexed by the Tri-Color forwards, Ann collected 10.

The squaws led throughout the Sweet Briar contest only to be edged out in the final moment of the game.

Playing in fine style, the forwards worked together to pile up a 14-11 lead by the half. Varying their plays from set shots to tricky lay-up tries, they completely baffled the Sweet Briar defense. The Tri-Color guards, led by Nonnie Fehse, were at the same time making things difficult for the opposing forwards.

Co-ed Swimmers
Meet N.C. March 11

As a result of swimming try-outs held on February 5 and 12, Bonnie Green, Jane Seaton, Jean Bevans, and Betty Jane Carraway have been added to the co-ed varsity swimming team.

The Fall squad has lost the services of Francie Brigham, who transferred to the University of Illinois, and Harriet Crowell.

On February 26 the team will compete in its first spring contest, a telegraphic meet in Blow pool, and on March 11 the squaws will journey to the University of North Carolina for a match in the U. N. C.'s famed six-lane 100-foot long pool.

Painting and repair work have been completed on Jefferson pool and plunge periods will be resumed at 9:00 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights.

Orchesis To Present
Annual Dance Recital

Orchesis will give its annual dance recital on the night of March 23 in Phi Kappa hall. Miss Helen Black, dance instructor, announced that the program is in its tentative stage but there will definitely be a section on folk dancing as well as modern dance numbers. Carolyn Thomas is the club president and Ginger Wright is the pianist.

Members of Orchesis who will participate in the recital are: Helen Thomson, JoAnn Prince, Daphne Andrews, Ruth Thistle, Joan Phillips, Ruth Nenzel, Ann Callahan, Ann Hirsch, Pat Snyder, Eleanor Grant, Lucy Buran, Peggy Ballantine, and Carolyn Thomas.

With the score never showing more than one or two points difference, a 23-23 deadlock was broken in the final minute of the game when Peggy Sheffield sank a foul shot to put Sweet Briar ahead. About 30 seconds later, Shirley Levis put the game on ice by sinking another basket, bringing her total to 15 points.

The Squaws showed up much better against Sweet Briar than in the match of the previous day. Despite top-flight guarding, the forwards wormed their way through to score with beautiful shots. Ann Vineyard, who again led the Squaws' scoring with 10 points, made several long set shots, as well as her share of lay-up baskets. Beegie Grant was not far behind Ann in the Sweet Briar contest, gathering four tallies, good for eight points.

Big Green Quintet
Conquers Cadets

Stan Magdziak, William and Mary's ace forward, chalked up 22 points as he led his teammates to a 39-28 victory over V.M.I. last Friday night at Lexington.

This achievement, the best scoring performance of his collegiate career, raised Stan's total for the year to 197, giving him a 14-point average in Southern Conference competition and a 13.1 record for the season as a whole.

The win was the third straight for the rejuvenated Indians and their third conference triumph against four setbacks, keeping alive their hopes for a bid to the annual tournament at Raleigh.

With Magdziak and Chet Mackiewicz showing the way, the Tribe jumped into an early lead and held the Keydets scoreless for the first seven minutes until Johnny Hodnett dropped in the initial goal for the home forces.

V. M. I. handled the ball well and intercepted several of their opponents' passes but were unable to unveil any scoring punch when they got under the basket. Hodnett, their top man, didn't do too well, getting but six tallies on two goals and a pair of fouls. Trailing him were Vannoy and Johnson, the combined total of all three being six points less than that of Magdziak.

Foul shots proved a big help to the Braves as they sank 9 out of 13 attempts. The Cadets could make only 8 in 16 tries.

The defeat was the fourth conference loss in five starts for the Flying Squadron and dropped them into a tie for fourteenth in the league standings.

A victory tonight over the University of Maryland basketball team and a win Saturday over VMI will mean an invitation to the Southern Conference tournament for William and Mary. Luckily for us and for the basketball team these two games will be played in Blow Gym. Coach Holt's men have definitely played better ball here as proven by scores. However, a deciding factor in a team's playing even a better game at home is knowing that a crowd is behind it. Naturally the student body wants William and Mary to win, but how is everyone going to indicate that fact unless they go to the game and show a little spirit? These two games should be good from the spectators' standpoint, because the team will really be putting out to get that invitation to the Southern Conference tourney.

— W-M —

Tennis practice is in full swing now and the chances are excellent that Coach Umbeck will turn out another good team. Last year the locals lost only to Army and Navy, but with the new men added on the squad Coach Umbeck's team may do even better.

— W-M —

Hats off to Don Sudkamp, Tribe center, who has shown about 100 per cent improvement in the last few basketball games both offensively and defensively. His play around the backboard has also improved remarkably.

— W-M —

Spring football practice still goes on, with Coach McCray now putting the men through scrimmages. After basketball season just about all of the court squad will probably join in the "knocking" behind Cary Field. Every position is knee deep in material, so next year William and Mary should sport a good football team, or at any rate a large one.

Tri-Color Needs Two Victories
To Gain SC Tournament Bid

Frosty Holte's Indians have now entered their final week of competition with three games left to play, all of which are home contests. They face Maryland tonight, V.M.I. on Saturday, and close the season on Monday when they play host to Randolph-Macon.

Special significance is attached to the first two contests since they are Southern Conference engagements. The Tribe, with a league record of three wins and five defeats, must take both tilts if they hope to gain a bid to the conference tournament.

V.P.I. Defeats
Redmen, 51-45

With Joe Ruddell putting on a one-man show as he scored 25 points, V.P.I. eked out a 51-45 decision over William and Mary in a Southern Conference tilt played at Blacksburg last Saturday. The Gobblers are now within one game of the State championship.

This defeat was the fifth against three wins for the Indians in conference play and means that they must take their two remaining contests with Maryland and V.M.I. to gain a bid to the league tourney at Raleigh. In losing the Tribe had a three-game winning streak, their longest of the season, broken.

Ruddell's performance was the highlight of the game as he scored almost half of his team's points. The rest of the Gobblers took it comparatively easy, with Reed, the second man, getting only nine markers. For the Redmen big Stan Magdziak was high with 12 tallies, running his total to 209 for the season. Trailing him was Jere "Baby" Bunting who dropped in five baskets.

Although holding just a one-point margin at halftime, the victors put on the pressure to extend their lead after intermission.

Hampden-Sydney Five Bows
To Braves By 65-38 Count

William and Mary's cagers chalked up another win last Tuesday in Blow Gym as they trounced the Hampden-Sydney quintet, 65-38.

Stan Magdziak started off the scoring for the Tribe and the Redmen took complete charge of things from then on. Mackiewicz and Magdziak did most of the scoring during the first period as the locals built up a sizeable lead. The defensive play of the Tribe went well, since Hampden-Sydney ond half and were making shots from close in.

Stan Magdziak, co-captain of the Tribe quintet was high scorer of the evening, bucketing eight field goals and four free throws for a total of twenty points. Mackiewicz, also co-captain, was second with a total of fourteen points. Balas, a forward, was high scorer of the Hampden-Sydney team, sinking thirteen markers.

rarely got close to the basket and were forced to resort to long setshots. Coach Holt's charges played aggressive ball throughout the game as they romped over the Tigers.

With the score 37-18 at the end of the first period the Indians started scoring quickly soon after the whistle for the second half. Blanc made two lay-up shots in succession and these points were followed up with tallies made by Sudkamp and Salysers. The locals almost always had double the score of the Tigers during the sec-

Bob Holley, Army Veteran, Joins Holt's Team As Center

Bob Holley, Coach "Frosty" Holt's new center, has had a great deal to do with the rejuvenated play of the Indians.

Bob entered William and Mary this semester after having served two and a half years in the armed forces. He was immediately conditioned for the quintet, and has shown that he fits in with the squad. A lot of people remember Chuck Holley, his brother, who played for Duke in 1941 and was chosen all-Southern Conference center.

Holley was born in Kittanning, Pennsylvania, and went to high school in Ford City, where he now makes his home. At the Ford City High School he was on the varsity basketball team for three years. Previous to this he had been on the junior varsity two years, having started his basketball career in the eighth grade.

He was all-Section center two years in high school, and all-Western State once. He also was captain of his team that year. He played football as well, and was varsity end during his senior year.

Graduating in June of 1943, he entered the armed forces on August 14, of that same year. He went overseas the following February, serving in the Quartermaster Corps. After six months he was reconverted into a private in the infantry, and from there went on to be a private first class, and finally a sergeant.

While serving overseas, Bob joined the 34th Division and eventually was put in the First Pennsylvania Division. He was in the winter camp in the Po Valley during 1945.

After the war, Holley joined the 88th Division, and went to Trieste in the Yugoslav mountains. He was also in Switzerland before he left Italy on December 15 of last year. He arrived in New York on the 25th and was discharged four days later.

Holley plans to major in Business Administration, unlike most of the athletes on the campus. Along this line he hopes to enter marketing. He takes two freshman subjects, English and Spanish, but his other two are Government and Business 313.

The six-foot, three-inch, brown-haired center loves sports, as well as the femmes. He also enjoys eating, and spends much of his leisure time in the pursuit of nourishment.

Aside from these, but still in the category of sports, Holley likes to bowl and shoot pool. He sends the ball down the alley at a hefty 170.

Co-ed Squads Continue Play

During the past week twelve intramural basketball games were played and one was forfeited. Games will be run off on weekday nights with the finals in league A scheduled for March 9 and the finals in league X and Y March 7.

On February 11, Jefferson dormitory handed Monroe Hall a 26-7 setback as Betty Mullinix rang up 19 points. Twenty fouls were committed and only seven foul shots found their mark. Chandler defeated Brown in a tight game, 20-16, the same night. A scoring duel ensued between "Tommy" Smith of Chandler who scored 15 points and Gillespie of Brown who got 14 markers.

Beinbrink, Fehse, Beatty, Add Height To Women's Varsity Court Squad

Norma "Nonnie" Fehse, Carol Beinbrink, and Jane Beatty add the much needed height to the W-M co-ed varsity basketball team. All three hail from the New York-Philadelphia area and thus the predominance of northerners on the team is not surprising since Bonnie Wolfgram also comes from that locality.

Residing in scenic Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y., Nonnie, a junior at William and Mary, gained her guarding experience from three years of interclass games at Richmond Hill high school and two years of competition on the Squaws team.

Last year Nonnie stepped into a forward slot during an emergency in the sorority basketball league games and although she believes the amusing incident diverted the opposing teams' strategy she didn't care too much for her new assignment. Nonnie prefers to guard a tall forward because she "can't keep track of a small person."

ent in hockey and archery and won PSAL medals in the 100-yard dash in New York.

A graduate of Swarthmore high school in Pennsylvania, Jane Beatty's former guarding experience was thrown to the winds upon her entrance into college. Last year at William and Mary

CAROL BEINBRINK

Carol Beinbrink, or "CB" as she is known on campus, is the tallest forward on the sextet, standing 5' 11". The Floral Park, Long Island, cager firmly believes that "when you're on the ball you can't miss but when you're not—lay-up shots should be used extensively."

Captain of the basketball team her junior and senior years at Sewanhaka High, CB attributes her basketball footwork to "captain ball", a game akin to speed ball. An economics major at William and Mary, she is also proficishe was transferred to a forward position and was runner-up in total points scored during the season, a fine record for someone with no previous shooting knowledge.

Jane, a three year varsity player at Swarthmore, captained the high school team to an undefeated season in 1944. In their final game that year they squeaked out a 28-25 decision over undefeated Upper Darby. Jane has the highest praise for her coach, Miss Virginia Allan.

Taking the opposite viewpoint from most forwards, Beatty prefers man-to-man guarding because "you can lose your man easier than in the zone defense"—her speed of foot no doubt has some effect on her outlook. For anyone with the attitude "I don't know what's going on, I just try to shoot baskets", Jane gives excellent scoring strength to Miss Barksdale's squad.

North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, V. P. I., and Maryland have qualified for the Southern Conference tournament which will be held at Raleigh.

have a poor record for the season and did not give the Indians much competition in this game. They have been unpredictable, however, and an upset must not be taken as impossible. The boys from Lexington have been eliminated from the conference race and without a doubt, would like to knock the Big Green out of the running also.

The Cadets have taken a pair of trimmings from Virginia and V.P.I., along with other assorted defeats. Their best game of the year was a 30-28 conquest of Richmond. Hodnett and Johnson, forwards, and Vannoy, a guard, are the best of the V.M.I. courtmen. They operate only as a team, since none of the three is

SKIRTS - IN - SPORTS

By BETTY COUMBE

Perhaps the most thankless job in sports is that of a manager. Managers rarely actually participate in the particular activity. However, they undergo intensive nervous strain playing over in their mind some incident vital to the outcome of the contest as well as bearing all the burdens that go with keeping a team or individual in championship form.

I doubt if there are many more than a dozen people at William and Mary who know Joyce Remsberg was manager of the co-ed varsity cagers last year or that Jackie Armor is her successor this year.

Jackie's temperament is ideal for tangling with managerial concerns such as arranging games, handling financial affairs, or instigating and "enforcing" training schedules (the bug-a-boo of all coaches). Peppy, cheerful, hard working, and the Squaws' most enthusiastic rooter are the traits which characterize Coach Martha Barksdale's "Right Hand".

Friends Central in Philadelphia boasted an undefeated season in '43, the year Jackie managed that team. We hope she can bring as good luck to the William and Maryites through her good luck basketball charm.

We suggest that a place of honor be reserved for Miss Armor on the players' bench should the Indian quintet compete in the Southern conference play-offs. It might prove to have a very distracting influence on the opponents.

Squaws Go North For Doubleheader

Trying for their first win of the season, the William and Mary coed basketball varsity squad will travel north to Philadelphia and Baltimore this week end for a brace of games. The squad will meet Beaver College in Philadelphia, then will travel to Baltimore for a match with Notre Dame College.

Beaver is noted for the fine athletic teams it produces. Perfection is stressed, and in most cases is usually attained. Clever playing with skill and accuracy can be expected from them. At any rate, the contest should prove to be a fast and tricky one.

Notre Dame should be easier although it will be no pushover.

Theta's first team, Kappa Delta's second team, Alpha Chi's second team, Pi Phi's first team and Kappa's first team all took top honors February 12. Theta edged out Kappa Delta, 34-30, after a half-time tie in which both teams had 18 points. Cromwell, Theta, garnered 20 points while Smith, KD, followed with 16. KD's second team won over Tri Delta's second team by a 28-24 margin. Gamma Phi's second team fell victim to Alpha Chi's second team, 29-13, with Skoog dropping in 12 points for the winners. Pi Phi easily whipped Phi Mu, 27 to 8, and Kappa Kappa Gamma beat Gamma Phi, 32-9, with Humbert and Davis sharing scoring honors.

With Riddle, Kappa, and Scott, Pi Phi, each chalking up 10 points, their respective second teams played a close game February 13 with Kappa finally breaking a deadlock to win, 18-12. Kappa's first team scored, 58-6, over Phi Mu and Humbert's 26 points are high so far for the season. Gamma Phi's third team dropped a contest, 14-17 to Chi O's third team.

Jefferson rang up its second win of the season with a 27-11 triumph over Chandler February 14. Brown forfeited its game to Barrett Hall and Kappa's third team proved too good for Chi O's fourth team, winning, 16 to 10.

College To Resume Graduation Dances

decision that the June finals be conducted as near to the pre-war schedule as possible.

In previous years, the final dances were held in the Sunken garden with such orchestras as Hal Kemp's, Gene Krupa's, Tony Pastor's, Woody Herman's and Glenn Miller's. Friday night dance was held from 9:00 to 2:00 a. m., and the Alumni dance on Saturday from 9:00 to 12:00 p. m. Alumni day on Saturday included the business meeting in the morning and the memorial services at Colonel Ewell's grave with an Alumni luncheon in Trinkle hall. A swing concert was held in the afternoon in the college quadrangle with the orchestra using the podium as a bandstand.

Dr. Pomfret issued the following statement concerning the June dances:

"The Administrative Council, after careful study, decided that the College could not undertake the June dances in the Sunken Garden for the present year. The cost of making the set, the difficulty of obtaining materials, and the inability to do the work with the present understaffed maintenance department, were the principal contributing factors in the decision. The College, however, will render every assistance to the Dance Committee in holding these dances in the Blow Gymnasium."
